YEAR-END TAX TIPS SOME TAX-REDUCING THOUGHTS - STILL FOR 2016

Review inventory closely with a view particularly for dead/obsolete items – will reduce closing inventory and taxable income.

Check your 2015 asset and depreciation schedules for items no longer in use or obsolete: these may be fully depreciated in 2016 if the above applies.

Capital gains may be reduced by realized capital losses; assets/investments that reflect paper losses, and are unlikely to rise in value in the very near future, may be suitable candidates for review.

Capital losses on securities arising in 2016 may be offset with income from dividends and interest on securities received in 2016. This includes dividends from private companies.

Recognition for charitable contributions requires Section 46 approval, and must be made (and receipted) before Dec. 31. Give close attention to expenses that may be deductible – business and investment.

Review dividend strategy where relevant.

WHO IS A TAX RESIDENT OF ISRAEL- DEFINING RESIDENCE

There are substantial clauses covering individuals. The law seeks to define an individual as a resident where the focus of his or her life is in Israel. To this end, close attention will be given to family, economic and social circumstances; these will include:

- Place of permanent home, even if used temporarily by someone else.
- Place of residence of the individual and the members of his or her family.
- The location of regular business dealings, place of fixed employment and location of assets and investments;
- Memberships of clubs, organizations and associations;
- Periods of time

If an individual spent at least 183 days in the tax year in Israel, this would appear to indicate that the focus of his or her life during the tax year was in Israel.
